

Śravaṇa carries his parents to a pilgrimage.

Crying, “Rāma, Rāma, Rāma,” and ever thinking of Rāma, the Royal King was hysterical and restless.